DEVORE MADE GREAT CATCH

Marquard Pitched Splendid Game, as Did O'Brien, But the Latter Was Somewhat Unsteady—Game Witnessed by Large Crowd.

Boston, Oct. 11.—The Boston Red Sox and New York Giants went to New York last night with the world's championship baseball series a tie, with one game each, New York having taken yesterday afternoon's pitchers' battle by the score of 2 to 1, before 35,000 people. Marquard and O'Brien were the opposing pitchers until O'Brien was taken out to let Ball hit for him in the eighth, when Bedient went into the box. Each team secured seven hits. Marquard was a trifle more steady than O'Brien, allowing but one pass to three by O'Brien and striking out six to O'Brien's three.

But while Marquard pitched a good game, Josh Devore, the Giants' right fielder, was the hero of the game, shutting off a Red Sox rally in the ninth inning by a marvelous catch, which snatched seeming victory from the home team. There were two men on bases at the time and Cady drove a terrific drive between right and center, and Devore started after it. The base runners were on the way home when Devore pulled down the fly with one hand while on the dead run, ending the game.

The Giants scored first, crossing the plate once in the second inning on Murray's double to right center and sacrifices by Merkle and Herzog. They scored again in the fifth on Herzog's double, Meyers' out and Fletcher's single. It looked like more scores, as Fletcher stole second and O'Brien got unsteady and passed Marquard. Devore, however, forced Marquard at second, Fletcher going to third. Devore then stole second and Doyle was passed. The bases were full, but Snodgrass died on a fly to Lewis, ending the inning.

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Five Minutes After Taking
"Pape's Diapepsin."

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disorder.—Adv.

SPORTING NOTES.

It may not have been McGraw's strategy, but as the great "Rube" Marquard entered the world's series he never was in better form in his career. Yesterday Marquard held the Red Sox to seven well-scattered hits and had his opponents guessing every moment. The Rube is as valuable to the Giants during this series as Wood is to the Red Sox. We may expect to see Marquard called upon for at least another game and possibly two more. Little was anticipated of Marquard before the series.

Mathewson the Great has been affiliated with the Giants for twelve years and has been a headliner ever since. It has been materially through Matty that New York has gained a position on the modern baseball map. McGraw changed his tactics this year with him. He has in every post-season game or world's series sent Matty to the front. The year he sent out a young blood. If there is any lingering doubt that Matty is past after Wednesday's game it should be dispelled.

By some of the coaching methods Harvard has been following of late, indications seem to be that they are preparing to play the open game to the limit when the time comes. Hollister is being developed into a star quarterback under the able coaching of Charlie Daly. Hollister handles the team in open play better than any other man on the squad. Many of the large college teams have commenced serious work in developing the advanced methods of the forward pass. As there is no perfect defense against the play, it may prove to be a big factor in the important games, either as a means of scoring or threatening. Princeton has made more progress with the pass than any other college eleven of this fall. The pass that predominates is the short, snappy and simple pass. It is with this play that the smaller college relies on making a strong showing against the large universities at the opening of the season.

The sentiment at New York after the loss of the first game was not disheartening. The majority of the sporting papers were unanimous in conceding New York as a better team that would eventually win the series. The sentiment has grown after the showing made at Boston Wednesday and yesterday.

Coach Hobbs of the Amherst college football eleven is a highly elated person over the return of four of his regulars. Hobbs has been greatly handicapped all fall by the lack of material, and with the presence of these players he has one of the strongest combinations he has had since entering the school. The men returning are Morrow, Cy Hubbard, Guttier and Proudfoot.

Joe Birmingham, who managed the Cleveland club during the closing weeks of the past season, has been selected to operate the movements of the club next fall. His appointment this season was a success as acting manager, so the full title was deemed necessary to bestow on the outfielder.

SOUTH ROYALTON.

High School Seniors Give Reception to the Teachers.

The annual reception given by the senior class to the teachers of the South Royalton high school took place Wednesday evening in the high school hall. Principal Monahan, Miss Ellison, Miss Kallers and Miss Miller were in the receiving line. The entertainment was given entirely by the senior class, and consisted of music and a bright little farce, which caused considerable mirth. Refreshments were served of cake and fruit punch. Miss Isabelle Snell and Miss English leading the punch which was served by other members of the class. After the program a grand march was formed led by Joseph Knight, president of the class, and for about an hour promenading was indulged in, after which the party broke up, taking with them the remembrance of a happy evening. Much credit is due the seniors for their able management of the affair.

College men seem to know all about good clothes without any special instruction; they learn by observation. One thing most college men know is that make the kind of clothes they want, the styles they want, materials they want, the tailoring they want. These critical young men appreciate the shape-keeping quality of all-wool fabrics and careful tailoring; they know how to measure the value of clothes by the frequency with which the clothes go to the presser; style that keeps its shape counts to the college men.

The New Varsity Line

Hart Schaffner & Marx have reached the highest point of excellence in the new Varsity models for young men. There's an artistic quality about these goods that cannot be found in any other clothes.

No freakish ideas are embodied in these Varsity models; they're clothes made for young gentlemen; you'll look right in any of these suits; a good many models to choose from.

Many fine fabrics in grays, browns, blues, tans; many choice weaves—serges, chevots, tweeds, fine worsteds, Scotch and English weaves.

Young men are especially invited to see them here.

MONEY FOR LEGAL SERVICES

He Admits Authenticity of a Majority of Hearst Letters—Not Quite Sure of His Memory in Some Cases.

Washington, Oct. 11.—John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil company, testified to the Clapp committee yesterday that a receipt the late Cornelius N. Bliss gave him for the company's $100,000 contribution to the Roosevelt campaign fund of 1904 had been destroyed just before the death of H. H. Rogers. "It was not a thing of pleasure to look at," said Archbold.

Mr. Archbold's examination related to the "Archbold letters" between himself and former Senators Foraker, Quay and Hanna, and former Representatives Grosvenor and Sibley. Certificates of deposit sent to Mr. Foraker, he said, were for payment of legal services to the Standard Oil company in Ohio, "that, and nothing more." Some of the letters said to have been written to him by the men named, Mr. Archbold could not remember having received, but was not prepared to say he had not. Of his own letters, his most frequent answer was: "I have no doubt I wrote it." Mr. Archbold did not deny the authorship of any.
